

THE BOOTYCORNS

With age comes wisdom. And B-sides.

An eclectic, minimal, full-on, melodic, banging, uplifting, groovy, rockin', progressive, soulful, jackin', anthemic, feelgood, shiny, classic mix of house music – all night long!

For nearly two combined centuries, the members of the Bootycorn Sound System have been throwing down choice choons on dancefloors from Madchester to Minneapolis, Los Angeles to Lima, Wildwood to West London, Denver to DC, and Boston to Bogota. Wherever they go, these dance music legends bring their unique brand of... well... look... back in the day it was all called House, and House was a feeling that no one could understand, you understand?!?

MEET THE BOOTYCORNS

Over his 30+ year career, Alex Whalen has held down residencies at DC's Buzz, SF's Spundae, and Boston's Avalon; managed Deep Dish's Yoshitoshi Shop during the duo's Grammy Award-winning heyday; appeared on syndicated radio across the planet, including Digweed's Transitions and SiriusXM's Thump; toured extensively as a solo artist and with fellow nutter Dave Ralph; served as the hand-picked opener with just about every A-list DJ you care to name. In addition to DJing with the Bootycorns and on his own, he also serves as co-founder of MK2 Artist Management.

LA's Eskimo Bros first joined forces in Florida in the mid 1990's: one born out of the raves and clubs of NYC & Philly and the other out of the warehouses of Detroit & Chicago. They met at film school where they became regulars at Florida's Club Sound Stage and The Legendary House of Gouda parties, then relocated to LA where their Gardner Street Studios became the go-to stop for every A-lister looking to play an afterhours while on tour. Over the years, they've shared the decks with countless LA legends, crews, and collectives, including Mark Lewis, Steve Loria, Taylor, the ROAM Collective, Giant, Spundae, B-Sides, Avalon, The Beat Garden, and The Night Gallery.
