Kaspar Tasane has been named "the one to watch," by Soundgarden Resident Gustin, in DMC World Magazine. "His music just totally blows me away. It's elegant yet driving, and has a timeless energy that often reminds me of the mid 1990's progressive sound." Kaspar hails from Tallinn, Estonia and uses his experience there while growing up in the European electronic music scene, to bring a unique flavor all his own to the progressive house sound. Kaspar Tasane's unique style has garnered support from the likes of trance legend Armin Van Buuren, who showcased Kaspar's track "Fusha" at A State of Trance Festival 700. Kaspar has also captivated the attention of pillars like Paul Oakenfold, Solarstone, and Cosmic Gate. As Kaspar's sound evolved to a more underground and progressive vibe, DJs Hernan Cattaneo, Nick Warren, Guy J, Darin Epsilon, Anthony Pappa, Sandra Collins, Chris Fortier and more than a handful of others have all publicly shown and professionally lent their support. As a DJ, Kaspar comes from an era before the sync button and USB sticks. After spinning at various club nights in the capital of Estonia, Tallinn, Kaspar and DJ partner DTB quickly gained a residency at the hottest dance station of the time on Energy FM. Friday night's show, "Weekend Liftoff" rapidly became the most popular radio show in the capital. which resulted in trucking crates of vinyl all around the country. They landed gigs everywhere from the freshest clubs, to underground events, and even stages on major festival circuits. After transplanting back in the US, Kaspar continues to showcase his skills behind the decks. Kaspar has played at various raves and club events in Portland, Austin and San Antonio as well as, Houston. He has shared the stage and opened up for the likes of Paul Oakenfold, Kenneth Thomas, First State, Myon & Shane 54 as well as, countless others. Kaspar Tasane is just getting started...
